

HEBER BIOGRAPHIES

on January 2, 1862. He came to Heber to visit his sister, Mrs. O. T. Nilsson, and decided to stay.

John was a widower, having lost his wife and daughter some years previous. He met Christina Swenson and married her in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 13, 1883.

He started a little business of harness making and had a shop in what was known as Hatch Row, which was about 100 feet north of the Heber Exchange Store. Mark Jeffs, a merchant here, furnished the leather and material for a harness and he sewed them by hand for $12 a set. There were many harnesses needing repair in those days, so he made a good living for his family.

He was a very quiet man, minded his own business, and left others alone. He had no enemies. It was said of him when he died, "He was an honest man," a grand tribute for anyone.

BERT A. DANNENBERG

Bert A. Dannenberg was born August 26, 1881, at Aurora, Texas. The family moved to California about 1885, making their home at Sutter. He graduated from Sutter High School and attended medical school in San Francisco. The college was destroyed by the 1906 earthquake. He went to Chicago to attend Northwestern University Medical School, graduating in June, 1909.

He moved to Heber City, Utah, in November, 1909, and married Lacy Turner September 21, 1910.

In 1918 he enlisted in the Army Medical Corps. Trained at Yale University as a bacteriologist, he was at Camp Crane, Allentown, Pa., and later at an overseas camp when the flu epidemic hit the eastern United
